

PIVOT ADVOCACY

WEBSITE DESIGN BRIEF

1 Project Overview

Pivot Advocacy is a research-driven substance abuse prevention and psycho-educational initiative established to transform how prevention, early intervention, and recovery education are delivered.

The website should position Pivot Advocacy as a premium, credible, research-backed, and youth-focused social impact brand. It should not feel like a generic NGO website, a clinic website, or an academic website. The platform should communicate trust, professionalism, hope, resilience, innovation, and measurable social impact.

The website must clearly communicate:

- Who Pivot Advocacy is
- Why Pivot exists
- What Pivot: The Resilience Game™ is
- What The Pivot Campus Experience is
- How organizations, schools, sponsors, NGOs, and institutions can partner or get involved

The website should balance seriousness with hope and action.

2 Overall Website Direction

The website should feel: modern, premium, emotionally engaging, globally aligned, human-centered, research-driven, youth-relevant, clean and easy to navigate.

The website should not feel: too dark or depressing, too crowded, too academic, too clinical, too childish.

The visual direction should communicate: resilience, growth, wellbeing, transformation, prevention, support, community.

3 Website Goals

- Explain the problem
- Explain Pivot Advocacy clearly
- Explain the flagship game and campus experience
- Build trust and credibility
- Encourage partnerships and sponsorship
- Drive inquiries, sign-ups, and collaborations
- Support future storytelling, blog content, and campaign visibility

4 Homepage Direction

The homepage should immediately answer: Who are you? What do you do? Why does it matter? Who do you serve? What action should visitors take?

4.1 Homepage Hero Section

Suggested Headline: Transforming substance abuse prevention through immersive learning, resilience building, and community engagement.

Suggested Subheadline: Pivot Advocacy is a research-driven psycho-educational initiative helping young people and vulnerable populations move from awareness to action through practical tools, guided reflection, and healthier decision-making.

CTA Buttons: Explore Our Work | Discover Pivot: The Resilience Game™ | Partner With Us

Hero Visual Direction: Use either a cinematic brand video, students in discussion circles, game-play facilitation scenes, young people in supportive group settings, or diverse Nigerian/African youth imagery. Avoid using only dark addiction-themed imagery.

5 Recommended Website Structure

Main Navigation: Home, About Us, Pivot: The Resilience Game™, The Pivot Campus Experience, Our Work / Programs, Research & Insights, Partners & Sponsorship, Get Involved, News / Stories / Blog, Contact.

6 Homepage Structure

- Section 1: Hero Section (Headline, Paragraph, CTAs, Visuals)
- Section 2: The Problem: Realities of substance misuse; impact on young people, families, schools; role of peer pressure, stress, trauma.
- Section 3: The Gap: Headline: "Awareness Alone Is Not Enough." Why traditional lectures lack emotional insight and coping tools.
- Section 4: Our Response: Prevention Education, Resilience Building, Psycho-Educational Engagement.
- Section 5: Pivot: The Resilience Game™: What it is, who it's for, how it works. Three zones: Temptation, Consequence, Recovery.
- Section 6: The Pivot Campus Experience: Advocacy sessions, gameplay, wellbeing discussions, reflection circles, peer learning.
- Section 7: Impact Section: Highlight why the model matters, future growth plans, and long-term outcomes.
- Section 8: Partnership & Sponsorship: "Join the Movement to Build Healthier, More Resilient Communities." CTAs: Partner With Us, Sponsor, Invite Pivot.
- Section 9: Stories & Insights: Articles, youth wellbeing content, campaign updates.
- Section 10: Footer: Quick links, contact, social media, newsletter, legal info.

7 About Us Page Structure

- Who We Are / Why We Exist
- Our Mission / Our Vision / Our Values

- Our Approach / The Research Foundation
- Powered by SMATCOM Africa
- Meet the Team: Profiles of the Leadership & Advisory Team, showcasing the experts and visionaries behind the initiative.

8 Pivot: The Resilience Game™ Page Structure

- What the game is / Why it was created / How it works
- The three zones (Temptation, Consequence, Recovery)
- Learning outcomes / Who can use it
- Why immersive learning matters
- Flow diagram: Temptation → Decision → Consequence → Support → Recovery → Resilience

9 The Pivot Campus Experience Page Structure

- What it is / Why campuses matter
- Program components: Awareness sessions, Live gameplay, Mental wellbeing discussions, Reflection circles, Creative engagement.
- Who can host it / Call to host or partner.

10 Research & Insights Page

PhD research background, founder insights, prevention education articles, mental wellbeing articles, youth resilience content, reports, and thought leadership.

11 Partnership & Sponsorship Page

Why partner with Pivot, Sponsorship opportunities, CSR alignment, NGO collaboration, Institution partnerships, Partnership inquiry form.

12 Get Involved Page

Partner with us, Sponsor a campus activation, Invite us to your school, Volunteer, Become a youth ambassador, Collaborate as a counselor or facilitator.

13 Visual Design Direction

Color Palette: Deep navy/charcoal (Authority), Green (Growth), Gold/Amber (Hope), White/Neutral (Clarity).

Typography: Clean, modern, premium fonts, highly legible.

Imagery: Real young people, discussion sessions, campuses, peer learning. Avoid overusing drug imagery or fear-based visuals.

14 Website Tone of Voice

Do: Compassionate, clear, intelligent, research-informed, emotionally engaging, globally professional.

Avoid: Jargon, overly academic, overly casual, fear-based, long blocks of text.

15 Key Messaging Blocks

- Why Pivot Exists: Helping young people move from understanding dangers to gaining emotional support and resilience.
- What Makes Pivot Different: Immersive, psycho-educational, and community-centered approaches.
- Why the Game Matters: Understanding risk and recovery through guided experiential learning.

16 Functional Requirements

Mobile responsiveness, fast loading, contact forms, newsletter signup, blog functionality, social media integration, video support, SEO, and CMS updates.

17 Final Creative Direction

The Pivot Advocacy website should feel like: A premium advocacy and intervention platform with the emotional power of a movement, the clarity of a modern nonprofit, and the credibility of a research-based social innovation brand.