

About the Brand

PIVOT: The Resilience Game™ is an immersive and educational board game designed to model the emotional, psychological, and social journey of substance exposure, addiction, intervention, and recovery. The game serves as a psycho-educational tool that helps individuals, families, educators, counselors, and rehabilitation programs understand the dynamics of addiction and the pathways to healing.

Through interactive storytelling, strategic gameplay, and behavioral learning, PIVOT encourages players to develop resilience, critical thinking, and awareness about the consequences of choices. The experience is structured to simulate real-life scenarios where players must make decisions, face consequences, and navigate challenges while learning valuable lessons about recovery, support systems, and personal transformation.

At its core, the brand represents change, resilience, and forward movement. Just like the concept of a pivot in life, the brand symbolizes the ability to redirect one's path toward growth, healing, and renewed purpose.

PIVOT exists to empower individuals and communities by transforming education about addiction and recovery into a meaningful, engaging, and impactful experience.
